MONEY MONEY.

We have a word to say to our readers, not to that portion of them, that always punctually pay up; but to that class who take the paper year in, and year out, and never think of paying the printer. They act as if they never intended to pay, so long at least, as they can get the paper without paying. Now, with us this practice is "played out." We want our money and we intend to have it. Pay up gentleman or stop taking the REPUBLICAN. Pay up the old score, and we will again trust you. We have sent bills to nearly every patron in arrears, and yet you heed them not. This cannot go on forever.

We also, hereby notify all candidates who owe us for printing tickets during the last three years, to call and settle their accounts, between this and the April court, or we will immediately after the adjournment of the Court, place their accounts in the hands of a Justice of the Peace for collection. We want our money and we intend to have it. If there is no virtue in dans, we will have to try what there is in law. We think men who wish their fellow men to work for them and honor them, should be willing to pay their legitimate printers bills.

All persons indebted for Job work will please call—settle and pay up.

THE PROSPECT.

Court week has brought us face to face with quite a number of our subscribers. They called and paid us all back dues, and moreover brought us a word of commendation and good cheer. They were all sound for GRANT, HARTRANFT, MERCUR, ALLEN and the whole Republican ticket, and bitter in their denunciations of the Press and all such disorganizing sheets. They acknowledge no dictator, and laugh at the idea of changing the ticket. Hartranft's nomination was a defeat of all the rings; but that one monster ring, that is composed of, and led by, the people themselves.

We are always happy to meet our friends. This close communion enables us to know the wishes of the people and to, intelligently proclaim them—This is a blessing which the city papers do not enjoy, and is a fact, which they should duly appreciate and understand.

The time has gone by, when an egotistical daily can crack the whip of intolerance over the backs of the people. The people are the sovereigns, and they fully understand what their interests are without the dictation of "Lord Marblehead," "Lord Self Will," "Prince of the Reformers" or his man Friday of the Philadelphia Press. They fully understand that the State ticket must be successful in Octotober, to insure the State for Grant in November. We speak for Central Pennsylvania and we have no hesitancy in declaring that the united voice of the Republican party is, for the ticket, the whole ticket and nothing but the ticket, which was placed in nomination at Harrisburg, on the 10th inst.—This ticket can, and will be elected, in spite of disorganizers and sore-heads, on the second Tuesday of October next, by a majority of from 30 to 40 thousand. Why? Because the people have triumphed. The people are king. Politicians can stand aside.

GOOD GRACIOUS! WHO NEXT?—Mrs Greeley has trotted out Montgomery Blair, and has set him also on the road to Cincinnati. He was turned out of Lincoln's Cabinet for treason to the Union and the Republican party, and of course he is a fit candidate for Cincinnati. Now trot out Jeff. Davis, Hampton, Stephens, Forrest and Cantrall, the butchers of Union prisoners, and put them on the track to Cincinnati also.—They are fit associates, for Montgomery Blair, and we are afraid, from such indications that Horace Greeley has at last joined the "wayward sisters," whom he wanted Lincoln to leave depart in peace.

MAGNIFICENT.—The American Centennial Anniversary Chart, just published by Messrs. T. R. Callender & Co. Philadelphia, in aid of the Centennial Celebration Fund, is a beautiful and appropriate ornament. This will be a valuable memento of the great event. Full description will be found in our advertising columns.

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

We have read the comments of the different papers, in all their phases, on the State Ticket, and judging of the character of these comments from their different standpoints, we have come to the conclusion that no ticket has been presented to the people of Pennsylvania that is so strong, taken together, as the one nominated at the Republican Convention at Harrisburg. Notwithstanding the comments of several dissatisfied papers, the men nominated do not belong to either of the factions that have heretofore divided the State at times, and we might add disastrously. Neither the Cameron or the Curtin men succeeded in nominating their peculiar candidates, while the friends of both have acquiesced in the nomination of the ticket and will give it their hearty support. It is more free from what are termed Ring nominations than any ticket presented to the people of the State for many years, and therefore all opponents of Rings can cordially unite in its support.

Prominent friends of both Curtin and Cameron united in the nomination of General Hartranft, and the purely Ring candidates presented were defeated—We preferred one or two other candidates, but while having done so, we cordially acquiesce in the support of the ticket as nominated, and recommend it to the support of the people, and particularly to the friends of reform throughout the State. As far as we have been able to ascertain the character of the men presented, they have the reputation of being honest in their official capacity, and that is one of the most important features in their selection. That they may be supported by some corrupt men, because they have no where else to go, unless it is to the Democracy, where they properly belong, is no reason that honest men should not support [illegible] who are pure themselves, to exercise their influence on good officers, and in nine cases out of ten they can be kept pure, unless they are corrupt at heart.

The Philadelphia Press kicks a little because it came out in opposition to Gen. Hartranft a few days before his nomination, and therefore feels sore because he was nominated, and the dictation of the Press not endorsed by the Convention. This was hardly to be expected, as we must say that the course of the Press, with regard to candidates now-a-days is a little doubtful; and its frequent pronunciamentos in favor of candidates, and its evident unsteady course might lead a Convention into difficulty if they were to undertake to endorse its course, and probably could not keep up with the Press. We say this in all candor, and we also assert that such an erratic course is calculated to greatly damage the influence of that paper.

The Scranton Republican is a strong friend of Mr. Ketchum, and, of course, feels a little cross at being defeated, but declares that they will support the ticket. The Republican is a little crotchety and reckless at times, which also effects its influence in shaping public opinion, but in this case its course is sensible and patriotic.

* * * * *

The only paper that says it will not support the nominations is the Lancaster Express. This paper does not belong to the Republican party; it was publicly repudiated last year in Lancaster county by the Republicans on account of its advocating Free Trade. It belongs to the Democratic Free Trade party, and there let it go. We desire no Free Traders in the Republican party—it is the party of protection to home labor and industry, while the Democracy is the party of Free Trade; and the sooner the lines are tightly drawn on this subject the better for the people of the country. Protection is purely an American principle, and ought to be supported by every friend of home labor and industry; while the so-called Democracy are foreign in principle, and are traitors not only to home labor and industry, but traitors to the prosperity, progress and happiness of our people, and also enemies to the human race.

We have heard some object to General Hartranft because he is not quite as brilliant as some of the other candidates. This may be true to some extent, but the most talented men as speakers sometimes make the poorest public officers—(we can point out a number of such)—while men who possess an education, good common sense, and judgment to select good advisers, have made the best and most popular Governors Pennsylvania ever had.—Governors Snyder and Shunk, were of that class. General Hartranft was educated for the bar, but one of his strongest recommendations is, that afterwards he did not practice his profession, but sought other pursuits. Talking and hair-splitting did not suit him.—Miner's Journal.

POLITICAL—HE SITUATION IN PENNSYLVANIA

A HIGHLY INTERESTING AND IMPORTANT LETTER FROM THE CAPITAL OF THE STATE, GIVING A TRUTHFUL STATEMENT OF THE SITUATION.

The following letter was received by the editor of the Sunday Chronicle at an hour on Saturday night too late to be printed in its last issue, and as it contains information of important significance we gladly and cheerfully give the use of our columns for its publication this morning. It was written by the editor of the Harrisburg State Journal, Mr. Wlen Forney, a brother of our friend D. C. F., of the Sunday Chronicle a gentleman whose opportunities to ascertain the sentiment of the people are as ample any man in the State:

HARRISBURG, April 12, 1872.

EDITOR SUNDAY CHRONICLE:

The political situation in Pennsylvania was never of a character to be as easily misrepresented abroad and as difficult to effect for evil at home as at the present time; I therefore write to you to aid in getting the true position of the Republican masses of the State, from your central location properly stated before the country. All great and successful political organizations like the Republican organization gathered to their ranks many men who adhered to them more to secure their own personal interests than in aid of their patriotic objects. The men who now manage to keep themselves prominent as reformers of the Republican party are of the class alluded to, and who in nine cases out of [illegible] speak or participate in the foulness which they seek to charge to the account of others. In various ways the class of political adventurers to whom I allude, and I only speak for my own State, could not have been prominent unless carried to elevations by the rolling waves of Republican success. When the party was engaged in a life and death struggle with traitors, and when, on the other hand, it labored to maintain the national credit, there were men in the Republican party constantly impairing its vital force by acts of personal corruption which our organization was held responsible, and our good old State rendered scandalous abroad for prostitution in politics which she did not deserve at home. At that time the Republican party could not afford to make antagonisms within its own ranks, and therefore it was compelled to endure the agony of an internal festering disease while it was forced to encounter the fury of an external desperate enemy. If our organization was corrupt, it was not owing to defects in the measures it advocated, but was produced by the men who clung to it. To have attempted at that time to cut those characters from the body of politics might have been fatal; might have resulted as occasional surgical operations do when the human body is in no condition to recuperate from the effects of the knife. After the war, and when General Grant became President, it was considered that the time had arrived for the Republican party to purge, that its health might be restored. Recognizing the fact that its first efforts were demanded as relief for an over-taxed people, its first work was to cheapen the Government, which could only be done by lessening the number of its employees—The reduction of the army threw thousands of men back into civil life. The cutting down of the civil list forced still larger numbers into private employment, for which they had lost all taste, and for which, by the enervating effects of official responsibility, they had become unfitted. In such a movement of reform, undertaken and sternly carried out by President Grant, the incompetent and the corrupt in our own ranks were the first to be set aside; blatant demagogues who had scandalized our organization; corrupt adventurers, who hung like incubus of evil over and upon it, were cut off and turned adrift because the better judgment of the people demanded, and the best interests of the republic justified it.

During a great civil war and while the very best men in all communities were in the field contending in armed conflict for the life of the nation, a class of bad men seized many positions in civil life for which they had no qualification, and from which they were ejected by Grant's original movement for reform. Johnson's administration inflicted the larger portion of this official incompetency upon the nation, and in no State more than in Pennsylvania has the course of the genuine reform to which I allude been more rigidly pursued, and the result has been, in all parts of our Commonwealth, a class of political idlers left without vocations adrift on the wave of popular affairs, ready to fight in a cause that will insure them the sinecures they lost by the purgation of the Republica party. And these are the men who are now creating so large a clamor of dissension in the Republican party in this State, when, in reality, the organization was never stronger than it is to-day—a fact which will be established by the result of the October election. Beyond Philadelphia there is not a decided and regularly recognized Republican journal opposing the State ticket just nominated, while the professed Republican journals of that city and elsewhere in the State, (and they do not number half a dozen,) which threaten opposition to Hartranft are controlled by men who were forced from public station on account of alleged official wrongs, or have been refused places because they are incompetent for the duties which would devolve upon them. This declaration will be corroborated by every Pennsylvanian who knows the men to whom I allude.—Those who have arrogantly assumed to be leaders of our organization, and who now antagonize, are in no better shape, being disappointed in their ambition, because the party they now malign would never trust them, and being bankrupt in their personal affairs because of habits which would exhaust the most princely revenues. Men thus disappointed, and politicians who have thus logically failed in all their efforts, mistake the temper of the people of Pennsylvania are ready to ignore results like these, and turn their backs on the noble men through whose instrumentality they were produced to gratify the petty revenge of puerile demagogues. It is an insult to the manhood of the nation to be charged with such a suspicion, and an evidence of ignorance to give it expression. You will discover, as our campaign for State officers progresses, that the Republican party here presents solid front, and that its vital force is one of principle. When the result of the October contest in this State thunders over the Union, it will prove that we are the last people in the country to be misled by political adventurers. Pennsylvania has no wrongs as a State to redress. The Keystone of the nation, so is she the main strength of the Republican party, and her surest way of purifying its organization will be to get after pretenders who, with small capital, have been endeavoring to impress our brethren of other States that they mould and control us to suit their own whims and wishes. The people are convinced the time has come to do this, and they will do it effectually, because the right demands and the interests of all sections of the country expect it and the perpetuity of good government cannot otherwise be assured. THE VOICE OF THE PRESS.

GEN HARTRANFT AND THE WHOLE REPUBLICAN TICKET GOOD FOR 30,000 MAJORITY.

[From the Harrisburg Telegraph]

ALONE

The Press alone is dissatisfied without any good reason, except that D. C. Forney and John W. Forney, received a good portion of the money embezzled by Geo. O. Evans, which General Hartranft has been trying to collect for the State. If Evans is proven a defaulter, Forney, having part of the money and standing in the light of a person receiving [illegible] pose Hartranft for awhile and then, Forney-like, will come out boldly and declare that he is the man whose efforts and labors alone elevated the Republican ticket and saved the party from destruction.

UNJUST.

The Press is unjust, unfair, illiberal and even mean towards General Hartranft, assailing him with a personal virulence which he does not deserve, and traducing his private and official character with a blind fury which is unbecoming a journal professing to be guided by honorable convictions of what is right. Gen. Hartranft is a man of unimpeachable honor—his honesty has never been questioned, and his fair dealing in public and private life is as well established as that of any man's in the Union. Why then, should the Press thus ruthlessly and even vulgarly assail our soldier candidate for Governor? The exhibition of such hate, at this time, is most unaccountable, particularly when Hartranft's friends had no concealments to make during the canvass for a nomination, and when, if objections could be made to his nomination, they ought to have been urged, and not withheld until after the people had declared in his favor. The conduct of the Press is factional in the highest degree, and looks and sounds very much as if it were giving utterance to the disappointments of a ring.

[From the Blair County Radical.]

FAITHFUL TO EVERY TRUST.

Few men in Pennsylvania enjoy the confidence of the people to a greater degree than General Hartranft. In the field and civil station he has proven himself faithful to every trust. Of unquestioned honesty as a private citizen and as a public officer, and of conceded executive ability, his nomination was alike fortunate to the party and people. With no attempt at show or affectation, General Hartranft has nobly acquitted himself in every station to which he has been called. His strength lies in his having done his duty well, and in his having the ability to do whatever else the people may require of him.

Judge Mercur is one of the ablest lawyers in the State, and for years his legal ability has been recognized by the most eminent lawyers in Congress. In private and public life he stands blameless, and no man more generally enjoys the confidence and esteem of the people of the Northern section of the State, regardless of politics, than he. In awarding the nomination for Supreme Bench to Bradford county the Convention not only recognized the claims of the great Republican North-west, but honored one of her most worthy sons.

General Allen's nomination is the second recognition of the soldier element in the Republican party. Like General Hartranft, he has been a faithful soldier, and will make an excellent Auditor-General. General Allen has served two terms in the lower House and one in the higher branch of the State Legislature.

The nominees for Congressmen at large are gentlemen who have long enjoyed the confidence of the party and have proved faithful to every trust. Both are gentlemen of ability and stand high in their profession.

[From the New Castle Courant.]

SELF-EVIDENT.

One thing, however, is self-evident to the most careless observer, and that is that Hartranft received an overwhelming majority of the votes cast. It is therefore fair to presume that he is the choice of the majority of the Republican voters of the State—not perhaps of as large a majority as the votes cast in the Convention might indicate—yet beyond a doubt of a large majority. Disappointed men may talk about "setting up," etc., but such talk is not sufficient to explain away the manifest wishes of a majority. We are informed that directly after the nomination, Gen. Ketchum, the opposition candidate, with all his friends, pledged his undivided support to the nomination. This was manly, and it was right. All true hearted Republicans should do likewise. It is no time to talk about what might have been, but we must both talk and act for what is before us. Let us go into the coming campaign with an undivided front to the common enemy. We have an excellent platform:

[From the Miltonian]

CONSISTANT REPUBLICANS.

Gen. Hartranft, as a brave soldier, an eminent citizen [illegible] the entire and hearty support of the party. If the friends of disappointed aspirants for office are to be allowed to prejudice the members of a political party against the successful candidate by decrying his merits, and misrepresenting the manner of his nomination, there is little sense in holding State conventions to decide who shall be the standard bearer of the organization. We believe there is vitality enough in the Republican party to survive the attacks of the disappointed office seekers and sorehead wire-pullers, and that our ticket, State and National, will be triumphantly elected this fall.

[From the Chambersburg Repository.]

NOT MADE BY A RING.

The Repository has long been an earnest advocate of Hartranft's nomination, not because it had any private ends to accomplish, but for the reason that it was apparent to those who knew anything about the sentiments of the people, that they wanted him as their standard bearer. So unanimous was the feeling in his favor throughout the State that he was nominated on the first ballot. His patriotism has never been questioned, his honesty cannot be impeached, his Republicanism is pure and true, and his popularity is a matter which has been on two different occasions thoroughly and satisfactorily tested. * * * * * *

The nomination of General John F. Hartranft for Governor, was not made by a ring. * * * * * * It was assured beyond peradventure, before the convention met. His candidacy was canvassed and discussed most completely by the people and the party journals prior to the convention, and an unmistakable preference indicated to place his name at the head of the ticket. A large majority of the delegates to the convention were pledged either to their districts to support him, or they were elected without instruction but with a full knowledge of their preference for him. If the convention could have been organized without a moment for consultation among the delegates, we have no doubt that he would have received a large majority of them. * * * * *

We doubt if a better nomination could have been made, and confidently predict that all opposition to him will soon cease.

No better or more high minded gentleman than Judge Mercur could have been nominated to the Supreme Court. He is learned in the law, has had much experience on the bench, of unapproachable character, and in the prime of his intellectual strength and vigor.

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN

BELLEFONTE, PA.

The Protective Policy makes Labor Contented and Capital Secure.

SPEECH.

OF

HON. JOHN SCOTT,

OF PENNSYLVANIA.

DELIVERED

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES,

MARCH 15, 1872.

(Concluded.)

Nor is this confined to one locality or to one industry. It will no longer be said with truth that protection is a Pennsylvania interest, and that duties are asked only to put money into the pockets of Pennsylvania monopolists.

The cultivators of rice from Georgia and the Carolinas come to us and say. "We can no longer sell rice at anti-war prices, for our labor now costs us more than it did before the freedmen worked for wages; we want protection for that labor by keeping up the duties."

Virginia, too, comes, and hear what her citizens say. I read from "the petition of a committee of manufacturers of sumac of the State of Virginia," asking that instead of putting that article on the free list, as was at first proposed by the reported bill, "an additional duty of one cent per pound be imposed upon it." They proceed to give their reasons, and I ask candid consideration for the arguments presented from south of Mason and Dixon's line in favor of free labor as well as for the facts they state, which are better than reams of speculations. They say, after the introductory words of their petition:

"Before the war, the consumption of domestic sumac was inconsiderable, the impression prevailing extensively that the American was inferior to the imported article. This false impression is justly to be attributed to the then imperfect mode of grinding and preparing the domestic article, the low price at which the foreign article could be purchased forbidding the outlay for the necessary improved machinery to prepare sumac at home. The war brought the necessity for our making use of our native product, and the advancing premium on gold acted as a protective tariff. The impression that American sumac was inferior to the foreign was demonstrated to be erroneous. The trade began to thrive; hundreds of thousands of dollars, before sent abroad to enrich the foreign producer, were invested in the development of our own resources.

"With the decline of gold, however, this trade has for some time past languished, until at present there is just apprehension that it will wholly cease to be remunerative. Many of the largest manufacturers are ready to sell out their mills, and give attention to some remunerative branch of industry. Your petitioners, therefore, respectfully urge that an additional duty of one cent per pound be placed on foreign Sumac, for the following reasons:

"1. The article named, may be justly expected to produce an article on our own soil in every respect equal, for its various purposes in the useful arts, to any imported from Europe.

"2. The production of the raw material at home, comparatively trifling before the war, but now reaching the amount of more than fifteen thousand tons annually or more than one half of our whole estimated consumption, gives occupancy to a very large number of freedmen, and of the poorest class of white citizens, chiefly in Virginia."

Now comes the reason from Virginia

"This occupancy will entirely fail them if the duty be removed, as the cheaper labor in southern Europe will secure the sending in of large quantities to this country.

"3. The consumer will not be injured, but benefitted, by our protection, for the competition of the American article, under the skill we have used in its preparation, has already caused a decline in the price of the foreign. The want of the protection we ask will again raise its value.'

Here are facts which those who cry "monopoly" ought to consider:

"4. The protective tariff we ask is by no means large, in consideration of its being the only possible means of our improving and developing this important and growing branch of American industry."

Brave words, these, and sound arguments, from the Old Dominion, the mother of Presidents and statesmen. She has breathed the air of freedom for seven years, and now distinctly avows that her free labor shall not be deprived of employment and fair wages by the cheaper work of the sumac-gatherers of Sicily and Italy. This is not the voice only of her manufacturers, for her Legislature has recently passed resolutions asking the same thing. That is my information.

Missouri, too, and Illinois, Utah, and Colorado, cry out in tones which will hereafter give a new note to those who have heretofore played the free trade hurdy-gurdy upon the one string and to the one note of "pig iron." "Pig iron" sounding familiarly as it does now not only in Pennsylvania, but in Maryland, Ohio, Indiana, Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, and Missouri, has found its twin "pig" and "pig lead" will resound around the iron mountain and Pilot Knob in Missouri, will be heard amid the clangor of the sixty-five thousand tons of pig metal and the ninety-one thousand tons of rails last year produced in Illinois, will keep on its west-ward way and echo amid the Rocky mountains, in Colorado, Utah, and Nevada, where the hardy miners protest against their galena being thrown out of a home maket by low duties on "pig lead."

Wisconsin and Michigan, too, are heard, and the murmur of their pine forests brings us the same petition that comes from the lowly sumac bushes of Virginia, "Protect our lumber from the low wages that prevail across the border."

But it is not only in the rough work of the forest, the forge, and the mine that labor is asking for protection. New Jersey came with her samples of silk, and from the mouths of the laborers whose skill had woven them we learned the same truth that was urged by her other sons who are skillful in the manufacture of glass and of earthenware, that the choice presented to us was to receive and pay for the products of the cheap and ignorant labor of foreign lands or to protect the better paid and intelligent labor of our own.

We had before us, Mr. President, in that committee, a laborer who learned his trade in England, who worked at Macclesfield, and who came to Paterson, New Jersey, and is now there engaged in the manufacture of silk. I wish that the manner of his testimony could be witnessed and the whole matter of it heard before this whole Senate. I was struck with the man's intelligence, with his practical knowledge, and with his frankness, and took down a few detached sentences as he went on giving his plain, unvarnished story. What were they? He said:

"The wages at Macclesfield, where I worked were; weavers averaged weekly in 1866 4s. 6d.; girls, 2s. 8d.; my own girl got that then. In Paterson, New Jersey, she now receives six dollars per week. I would have then been better pleased to send her to school, but I could not. Our poorest meals here would have been sumptuous fare there. We seldom had animal food, and worked fifty-eight hours per week. Prosperous times in England make it better now. Young women get now per week five shillings; women, nine to ten shillings; men now get fifteen to sixteen shillings. My savings here are equal to what my earnings were in England, after enjoying here three times the comforts we got there."

That is the story, Mr. President; and we are asked—

Mr. Edmunds. Will my friend permit me on that point to read to the Senate a condensed statement of one of England's most celebrated philosophers and artists, Mr. John Ruskin, in one of the recent lectures upon the topic of English labor that he delivered there, which is perfectly apposite to what my friend is saying:

"Though England is deafened with spinning wheels, her people have not clothes; though she is black with the digging of fuel, they die of cold; and though she has sold her soul for gain, they die of hunger."

Mr. Scott. I thank the Senator from Vermont for giving me the appositeness quotation. It lies just in that, Mr. President. This man tells the whole story of our country—better wages, and in their train education, enjoyment of the comforts of life, self respect, manhood, good [illegible] vast volume of immigration constantly pouring from the Old World into the New. The payment of the weekly wages of the manufactories and workshops of this country burdens our foreign mails, and causes the ocean cable to throb with the glad news to the loved ones left behind that money can be saved to bring them here to this better land for the laborer.

This man was the representative of an industry whose history in England we might follow with interest and profit. As we are asked by the petitions from which I have quoted, and to some extent by the bill which is reported, to strike down all such industries by letting in the products of cheap labor, let me quote, at the risk of being tedious, how England acted when she was nursing the same industry. I have been struck in reading a book, not written upon political economy, but to give the history, political, social, and religious of that remarkable people, the Huguenots, with the development of various industries introduced by them into England. I refer now to this particular industry in connection with the testimony of this silk-weaver. I read from page 256 of Smiles' History of the Huguenots:

"Another writer, Mr. Samuel Fortuey, describing the international trade between England and France in 1663, set forth the great disadvantages at which the English manufacturers were then placed, and how seriously the balance of trade was against England. Goods to the amount of above two and a half millions sterling were annually imported from France, whereas the value of English goods exported thither did not amount to a million." "The chief manufactures among us at this day," said he, "are only woolen cloths, woolen stuffs of various sorts, stockings ribandings, and perhaps some few silk stuffs, and some other small things, scarce worth the naming; and those already mentioned are so decayed and adulterated that they are almost out of esteem both at home and abroad."

Of the efforts to establish the silk industry we have this account:

"The English Government had long envied France her possession of the silk manufacture, which gave employment to a large number of her people and was a great source of wealth to the country. An attempt was made in the reign of Elizabeth to introduce the manufacture in England, and it was repeated in the reign of James I. The king issued instructions to the deputy lieutenants of counties that they should require the landowners to purchase and plant mulberry trees for the feeding of silkworms; and he granted a license for twenty-one years to one William Stallenge to print a book of instructions for their guidance. It appears that M. de Terton, Sieur de la Forest, commissioned by the king, traveled all over the midland and eastern counties selling mulberry trees at a low fixed price (six shillings the hundred) and giving directions as to their cultivation. The corporation of the city of London also encouraged the first attempts at introducing the manufacture; and we find from their records that in 1609 they admitted to the freedom of the city one Robert Therie, or Thiercy, on account of his skill and inventions, and as being the first in England who hath made stuffs of silke, the which was made by the silkworms nourished here in England."

In a note the manner in which England treated foreigners who came to carry on manufactures already established is thus given in contrast with that:

"The corporation were not alike liberal in other cases; for we find them, in the same year in which they admitted Thierry a freeman and citizen, expelling one Jno. Cassell for using the trade or art of twisting worsted yarn in Bartholomew Within, in the liberties of the city, he being no freeman, but a stranger born, contrary to the custom of the city. It is therefore thought fit, and so ordered by this court, that Mr. Chamberlain shall forthwith shut up the shop-windows of the said John Cassell's shop, and shall remove within a month all his goods, furniture, &c., to other places, which he promised to do."

England encouraged the establishment of the manufacture which she had not, but when a foreigner came to establish one that she had she drove him out and shut up his shop. How did she encourage here? I read from page 260:

"To protect the English manufactures, the import duties on French silk were at first trebled. In 1692, five years after the revocation, the manufacturers of lustrings and alamode silks were incorporated by charter, under the name of the Royal Lustring Company; shortly after which they obtained from Parliament an act entirely prohibiting the importation of foreign goods of like sorts. Strange to say, one of the grounds on which they claimed this degree of protection was that the manufacture of these articles in England had now reached a greater degree of perfection than was attained by foreigners, a reason which ought to have rendered them independent of all legislative interference in their favor. Certain it is, however, that, by the end of the century, the French manufacturers in England were not only able to supply the whole of the English demand, but to export considerable quantities of their goods to those countries which France had formerly supplied."

There is the doctrine of protection and its results, a home market supplied and a surplus for export. Thus I might proceed to enumerate the many new industries the Huguenots introduced in England, the histories of which all speak in the same language; but I forbear. Having, however, introduced the subject with a quotation from Mr. Wells's report, let me close it with one from an equally eminent free trader, showing not only his discernment of the truth that it is a labor question we are dealing with, but that at this peculiar juncture of our affairs we cannot with safety or justice to the industrial interests of the country reduce our tariff duties. I quote from the proceedings of the National Board of Trade, held in St. Louis in December last, in which he said:

"It is not my purpose to occupy the attention of the board but a few moments in stating my general views upon this subject. It is proper that I should declare, at the outset, that my views are perhaps as entirely on the side of free trade as those of any other citizen of the United States. I believe, after a very thorough examination of the whole theory and practice of protection, that it is fallacy, and injurious to the material interests of any country which adopts it. [Applause.] I believe its ultimate effect to be expressed in the aphorism, to misdirect and waste the productive energies of the country that adopts the policy.

"After having made that clear, positive and sincere declaration, I desire to add that I am, for the present, entirely opposed to any change of the tariff. There may seem to be a contradiction in that, but to my mind both positions are entirely sound. As has been said by many members of this body, including myself, the present condition of our currency is an offset to almost any tariff of duties levied by our Government as I will explain in a very few words.

"As I said before, and as evidenced by the enhanced cost of labor of machinery, of raw material, and of everything in this country, the manufacturer cannot to-day produce his finished articles short of an increased cost of at least sixty per cent., over what they cost before the issue of our irredeemable paper money. The importers, a class to which I have always belonged myself until recently—the importer to-day can go abroad and buy his manufactured products for gold, at the value of gold now, and, save the slightly increased cost of production, he can buy at the same cost virtually as before we adopted our paper-money currency. He brings his imports to our custom houses and pays an average duty of fifty per cent. on the foreign cost in gold. Both the cost abroad and the duty paid here are paid in gold. He sells those commodities for currency and takes his currency and buys the gold at cost and the duty. Therefore, he can import to-day within ten per cent. as cheaply as he could import before the war. The manufacturer, as I have said, cannot produce his finished commodities short of an increased cost of about sixty per cent. You will readily perceive, therefore, that the consequence is, that this tariff of duties, averaging about fifty per cent., is simply an offset to the disadvantages created by the present anomalous condition of our currency or, rather, the anomaly which exists of forty or fifty per cent. difference between the appreciation of labor and the appreciation of gold."

Mr. Opdyke has struck the fact to which the country must give heed, and it is this: gold went up during the war; labor went up with it; commodities went up also; but from two hundred and eighty-seven which it reached, gold has fallen to ten per cent. premium; commodities have fallen also; but while gold and commodities have fallen, labor has not followed them in the fall; and, sir, it will not follow them. What Mr. Opdyke calls "the anomaly which exists of forty or fifty per cent. difference between the appreciation of labor and the appreciation of gold" will continue so long as to lose its character as an anomaly. Labor will never recede to the figure at which it could be employed in former times, even when our currency shall be again upon a specie basis, unless we yield to the clamor for free trade, deluge our market with foreign goods, and thereby close our manufactories, turn labor from its accustomed into unaccustomed channels, and compel it to accept employment at such wages as will enable capital to compete with the product of the labor of Europe. As the majority of our people are in one form or another laborers, and laborers for wages, such a clamity, if it come at all, cannot long endure where the ballot is universal. Education has accomplished too much for that. In all our northern States the free-school systems have been in operation for a generation; in some longer. Last year Pennsylvania spent over eight million dollars for educational purposes. The people in the southern States are demanding education. Property is, it is true, in many instances, rebelling against the tax necessary to give it, but it will be given, and what will be the result? Just what it is where the boys of a generation ago are active men on the theater of life now. Their fathers may have gone to their daily toil for fifty cents a day, and retired at night to rest, passing the abodes of wealth and luxury and failing to reason out, or perhaps not starting the inquiry, whether that half dollar was a fair divide of the product of their toil as between capital and labor. But the boy who, in 1836 or 1840, was a common-school scholar and has been reading the daily newspaper ever since, is not only a worker but a thinker. If he leaves his toil at the Battery in New York with his one dollar and a half or two dollars for his day's work in his pocket, and passes up Broadway to his home, as he goes by the Aster House or the Fifth Avenue Hotel, the thought strikes him that there is, perhaps, some adjustment needed of the relations between capital and labor when he reflects that his employer lives in the hotel at an expense for himself alone of from five to ten dollars per day upon the products of that toil which maintains a family upon one dollar and a half or two dollars per day.

I do not say the disparity is in itself a wrong to be remedied by our legislation, but it exists, and intelligent labor is considering it, and we must meet it; and how? By paying such wages as will enable the laborer in every walk of life to live comfortably with his family, to clothe them decently, feed them plentifully, educate their labor in their younger years so that they may go to school and fit themselves for the duties of citizenship and the struggle of life. In this way only can we make labor contented and capital secure.

Mr. President, this country cannot afford cheap labor, for it implies want, privation, ignorance, and discontent. Our form of government demands, and it is our duty to pursue the policy which will secure virtuous, educated, intelligent useful, and contented citizens. I will not proceed to draw the contrast which exists between the well fed and comfortable laborer and his family here, and the ill-fed, discontented laborer in European countries. The table of wages I have given must suffice to suggest the consequences which follow from them.

It is the labor question I present. It is not the interests of capital that are involved so much as those of labor. Capital can generally take care of itself. If a manufactory stops to-day, the product of past labor in the hands of the proprietors will enable them to live through the period of depression, but the workmen have as a general rule no such dependence, and when the little store is gone, if new employment cannot be found, the alternative is distress or work at lower wages.

You are asked then to reduce duties. What for, if not that foreign products may be imported at lower prices and take the place of domestic manufactures? Look at the results. The duty on pig iron was reduced two dollars per ton in July, 1870, going into effect January 1, 1871, and we were told "that will take that much off the price; that much per ton will be saved to the consumer, and no longer go into the hands of pig iron monopolists." How was the prediction verified? The Secretary of the Treasury tells us that in the first six months of 1871 there was an increase in the importation of pig iron of one hundred and twenty per cent. as compared with the first six months of 1870. The value of pig iron entered for consumption from June 30 to December 31, 1870, was $1,211,322; from December 31 to July 1, 1871, $2,046,311. The tons imported in 1870 were 157,215, and in eight months of 1871, 158,660, or more than for the whole year of 1870.

Now, how as to price? When that duty was reduced it was selling at from $30 to $32 or $32 to $34 per ton, according to quality. To-day it is selling at from $40 to $42 and from $42 to $44 for the same qualities. Consult the markets in New York, Pittsburg, Philadelphia, and Boston—I have the quotations here, but will not take the time to read them—and you will find that the promised reduction of $2 a ton to the people has resulted in an increase of from eight to ten dollars per ton. That decrease of duty prevented competition at home. Foreign demand put up the price. We could not supply the additional demand, and there is the first consequence of this approach to free trade. That I put as a practical answer to the allegation in the free-traders' petition that the people pay the additional duty to the manufacturers instead of into the Treasury. If that be the result of free trade the people will determine for themselves which they prefer—pig iron reduced by competition, or pig iron put up to $44 per ton by a free-trade theory carried into practice by a reduction of the tariff. By reducing the duty $2 a ton they succeeded in putting up the price from eight or ten dollars.

This experience in pig iron, the scapegoat upon which free-traders pile all the sins of protection, serves as a practical refutation of their theories as to all protected interests.

So I might proceed with coal. It is urged that the duty of $1 25 per ton on bituminous coal is added to the cost, and that every ton of either bituminous or anthracite consumed in the country pays that additional $1 25. Such is the allegation of this free-trade petition. Let me state now the enormity of the proposition. Look at the statistics in regard to coal. The Coal Register for 1871 shows that the annual product of 1870 was, anthracite sent to market, 15,368,437 tons; home consumption, 3,847,876 tons, making a total of 19,211,313 tons of anthracite. Of bituminous coal there were, without giving the details, 14,968,465 tons; making the whole product of coal for that year 34,179,778 tons. The free-traders argue that the people paid to the producers of coal, under the system of duties, about forty-two million dollars of tribute, urging that, that duty of $1 25 was paid upon every ton. If this were so, there would be reason for complaint; but let us see whether it is true or not. In the year that tariff bill went into effect—1866 fixing the duty at $1 25, the average price of bituminous coal was $8 54 per ton in Boston, and of anthracite in Philadelphia was $5 80 per ton. I have before me the price of coal in New York on the 31st of January last, as follows:

"NEW YORK, January 31.

"One hundred and twenty thousand tons of Scranton coal were sold at auction to-day. The following prices obtained show a considerable decline from last month: lump coal, 8,000 tons at $3 35 to $3 42½; steamboat, 9,000 tons at $3 70 to $3 85; grate, 19,000 tons at $3 55 to $3 75, egg, 18,000 tons at $3 45 to $3 60; stone, 50,000 tons at $4 05 to $4 17½; chestnut, 16,000 tons at $3 30 to $3 45."

The average price of bituminous coal in Boston for the year 1871 was $6 54. [illegible] the duty increasing prices.

But I wish now to come to the other point, about the $1 25 that is put on every ton. Mr. President, I have a proposition to make on this subject. I have before me the cost of mining bituminous coal, and it is upon that the duty exists. The mining costs seventy cents per ton; it takes twenty-five cents a ton to pay the other expenses of superintendence, cars, &c, and twenty-five cents a ton is paid for royalty, making $1 20 as the cost of the coal at the mouth of the mine. It is now alleged that $1 25 is added to that for the producer upon every ton that is taken to market. Now, sir, if this Free-Trade League be the benevolent organization which it pretends to be, if it wishes to relieve the people of this country from this oppressive taxation, I feel authorized by the statements of responsible men who are in the bituminous coal business to say that every ton of bituminous coal mined in the Cumberland region, in the Broad Top region, in the Alleghany mountain region, in the valley of the Monongahela and the Ohio, will be delivered at the mouth of the mine to the Free-Trade League, if they take the contract for the whole of it for the year 1872 at $1 50 per ton. Take the cost of $1 20 at the mouth of the mine; take the cost of transportation, take the market price at Philadelphia, at New York, at Boston, or at any other point, and no room is left for this $1 25 that these petitions allege is paid by the consumers to the producers. The producers themselves will deliver the coal at the mouth of the mine at the price of $1 50 per ton, being just thirty cents over the cost of mining, royalty, and superintendence, leaving the rest for taxes, accidents, and contingencies. There is an opportunity for the Free-Trade League to give practical affect to its alleged benevolent feelings toward the tax payers of this country.

So I might go on with every other article in this bill; but I will not do so. You may take them all up: you may take up lumber, pig lead, rice, cotton, and woolens, and other articles that are in this bill, and upon which it is proposed to reduce the duties, and the history of all of them shows that the imposition of duties, not excepting those on woolens, or cotton, or iron, or steel, gives to the people to-day those products cheaper than they were in 1860, before the opening of the war. It is the competition that brings them down. What is there in this cry of "monopoly?" They want the duty off for the purpose of bringing in foreign goods. They say that our manufacturers have a monopoly, and that when they have monopoly they put up the price; but the theory which they advocate is to destroy our own manufactories, stop them, and give the foreign manufacturer a monopoly, thus making a distinction between American human nature and British human nature, casting an insult upon the American manufacturer, and paying a compliment to the British manufacturer, which neither his nature nor his history has ever deserved.

Sir, he entered into the war against free labor in this country. We fought against his Alabamas on the sea and the southern foe of free labor on the land, and having conquered on the sea and on the land, are we to surrender to him now and place the industries of our country at his mercy, rather than in the hands of our own citizens, even if that were the choice? Is it true that if American manufacturers commanded the market they would oppress and rob their fellow citizens? Is it true that if the British manufacturer commanded the market he would be so benevolent as to give them goods at first cost? No, Mr. President, there is nothing in it but this one question of labor. All opinions, free trade and protective, however they may reason, reveal, if closely scrutinized, that the whole question is one of labor.

I have here a very interesting letter written to me by a venerable correspondent on this subject, a man of large intelligence and liberal views, in which he gives his experience, from 1812 down to the present time, in regard to the various troubles and revulsions of 1837, 1847, and 1857. Without quoting him in full, but glad to add the testimony of one who has lived an active business life for more than half a century to the knowledge of those who are now willing to let well enough alone, I adopt his language to express my opinions. He says:

"In the compromise act of 1833 we had an illustration of the working of a percentage reduction in duties on imports and of its disastrous results, and, in my judgment, we should pause for a long while before trying it over again.

"Although our present tariff is in the main highly protective, it is not in any fair sense at all prohibitory. Our importations are larger than ever before, our laboring people and artisans all sorts have full employment at good wages; they are well clad, well housed; their children receiving the benefits of education, and within the circle of my observation, which is a pretty large one, I do not find any who complain of the taxation paid under the tariff. If at present it raises too much revenue, increase the free list still further by including in it tea and coffee, which are the necessaries, not the luxuries, of the poor and the laboring. The new movement for so-called revenue reform comes chiefly from avowed free-traders and from manufacturers whose establishments have been built up by protection, but who now feel so strong that they think themselves able to bear foreign competition, and desire to shut out all others from building mills &c., where they would be the centers of life and profit for a surrounding population. I would prefer a repeal of all our internal taxes, except those on tobacco, malt and spirituous liquors, to any modification of the tariff, and I believe such repeal would give more real relief to the people, and be hailed with more joy, than any assault on the tariff.

"From an experience now of more than half a century in the business of this country, I am convinced that a reference to the protective system is as important to the healthy existence of the country, both financially and morally, as the circulation of the blood is to the human body. I have witnessed departures from it in 1833, 1846, 1857, and saw also what came from the war of 1812, which was corrected by the tariffs of 1824 and 1828, and in every case we had the prostration of our industry, agricultural as well as manufacturing, national discredit (almost national bankruptcy,) individual bankruptcy, repudiation and ruin. By every return to the protective policy we have had prosperity, national and individual. We have seen what it has done for us in the last eight years since the war, and let us not depart from it at the suggestion of a few wind theorists of the free-trade school, or of those whose interest, personal and political, is with Europe, and more especially now with Great Britain.

"It is very plausible to say 'Buy where you can get cheapest and sell where you can get the best price,' but every one knows that our wheat and corn are only in limited demand in England as a regular thing, while their cloth and iron are daily needs unless we shall have them of our own production. The New England revenue reformer says, 'Give our tailors cheap cloth and they will give you cheap coffins;' but he does not go far enough or he would say, 'Buy your clothes of the English tailor, for, as he and his family are as near to the poor house as they can well be, he will work for fifty cents a day, while his American brother, who is comfortable and independent, and keeps you clear of poor-taxes, gets three dollars.'"

The case of the tailor and the clothes put by my correspondent may be applied to every other department of industry. If you import the iron or steel, why stop there? Import also everything made of them for the same reason, shovels, forks, cutlery, and the innumerable implements of every-day work that are made of them and throw idle the nine hundred and forty thousand men employed in producing iron and the articles manufactured from it. If you import the rough lumber why not finished furniture, the ready-made doors and sash, &c., and close up our lumber-yards and stop our planing-mills and our furniture factories?

But I forbear to pursue this subject. I close by calling attention again to the alternatives that are presented by this bill, one of which we may adopt.

First, repeal the duties on tea and coffee, $19,000,000; repeal the internal revenue taxes, $32,000,000, (less $6,000,000 of income tax,) $26,000,000; retain the free list, $53,000,000, and you have a

CONVENTION DAY.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE Republican State Convention.

Temporary Organization.

GEN. HARTRANFT NOMINATED.

GEN. GRANT HE UNANIMOUS CHOICE.

The Committee on Delegates at Large then reported the delegates to the National Convention, to be held in Phila on the 5th of June. From this District Edmund Blanchard and David W. Woods were selected, alternates Col A. Wilcox and Jas. K. Davis.

INTRODUCTION OF GEN. HARTRANFT.

The committee appointed for that purpose, introduced General Hartranft to the Convention, who was received with loud demonstrations of applause. On being escorted to the President's stand, General Albright introduced the Republican nominee for Governor in the following words: I have the honor of introducing to you General John F. Hartranft, the next Governor of Pennsylvania. [Great applause.]

General Hartranft said:

GENTLEMEN:—It would be easier to address you were I less unmoved by the great honor you have conferred upon me, in nominating me as your candidate for the Governor of this great State, to be voted for in October next. [Cheers.] For this pledge of your confidence I feel deeply grateful, and to you, the delegates and through you to the rank and file of the great Republican party in this State, whose representatives you are, I tender my heartfelt thanks.

I am fully aware of the grave responsibilities which must rest upon him whom the votes of our people will call to the Executive chair, and I thoroughly appreciate the difficulties to be met in caring with an equal hand for the vast and varied interests which must claim his attention. While human nature has its imperfections, it is scarcely possible that every act of so prominent an officer shall meet with universal approval; but should your good intentions be ratified in the coming election, let me assure you, I will make every honest effort to perform my full duty to this grand old Commonwealth, and to give to the people an administration faithful to her highest and best interests. [Applause.]

Gentlemen, it would be affectation to leave unexpressed the pride I feel at receiving this recognition from the party which has made so honorable a record in the few years of its existence. From its inception it has been firmly on the side of "a union of States, one and inseparable," and coming into power, it has cemented by the blood of our bravest and best the Commonwealths and Territories protected by our banner into one glorious whole. [Applause.] More than this, it has made our great Republic in truth "The Land of Freedom," by striking the shackles from four millions of slaves, and elevating them to complete citizenship. [Applause.] It has cared with a generous hand for the widows and orphans of those who died that the country might live, and has thrown its protecting arms around the gallant men who were maimed in the Union's defense. [Applause.] By being true to the obligations of the government it has lifted the United States into the front rank of nations and made the name "American" respected in every land. It is collecting the revenues of the government faithfully, and paying off the national debt at the rate of nearly one hundred millions per annum. Here in Pennsylvania the same judicial economy is reducing our debt one and a half millions each year. It has made and is making a record that will shine in coming years on the pages of the unbiased historian, unequalled by that of any other party that ever controlled the government. [Applause.]

Such a party is entitled to continue its rule in State and national affairs. It is now marshaling its forces for another struggle, and must pass through the usual political conflict incident to a Presidential campaign, and it will triumph as certainly and as gloriously as did the army of the Union, under "the Great Flanker," in its bloody march from the Rapidan to the Appomattox. [Enthusiastic cheering.]

At this point in the proceedings, the committee appointed to wait upon the candidates nominated introduced General Harrison Allen, of Warren, the nominee of the Convention for Auditor General.

The appearance of General Allen was greeted with loud and enthusiastic applause.

He made a most excellent and eloquent speech, in which he pledged himself, if elected, to stand by the best interests of the State and people.

INSTRUCTION OF DELEGATES.

Mr. Shannon, from the committee to nominate electors and delegates to the National Convention, stated that the committee had instructed him to report the following resolution:

Resolved, That the delegates of this State to the National Convention be instructed to cast the entire vote of the State for General Grant for President, and that on the question of Vice President they are instructed to act together for the best interests of the Republican party, and upon all questions arising in said convention to cast the vote of the State as the majority of the delegation shall direct.

The resolution was adopted.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION DELEGATES.

Hon. Wm. B. Mann, from the committee appointed for that purpose, reported the following as nominees for delegates at large to the Constitutional Convention:

Wm. M. Meredeth, Philadelphia.
J. Gillingham Fell, Philadelphia.
Gen. Harry White, Indiana.
Gen. Wm. Lilly, Carbon.
Linn Bartholomew, Schuylkill.
H. N. M'Allister, Centre.
Wm. H. Armstrong, Lycoming.
Wm. Davis, Monroe.
James L. Reynolds, Lancaster.
Samuel E. Dimmick, Wayne.
Geo. V. Lawrence, Washington.
David N. White, Allegheny.
W. H. Ainey, Lehigh.
John H. Walker, Erie.

A delegate moved to amend by substituting the name of William Darlington for the name of James L. Reynolds.

The motion was not agreed to.

Another delegate moved to lay the report upon the table and that the Convention proceed to the nomination of delegates at large.

The president ruled the motion out of order.

The report of the committee was then adopted.

An Electoral Ticket was also chosen.

The Convention adjourned until 7:30 P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

The Convention reassembled, and at 7:45 o'clock P. M. was called to order by the President.

Mr. Shannon arose to submit the report of the Committee on Resolutions.

RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. P. C. Shannon, of Allegheny, chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, reported for the consideration and action of the Convention the following:

1. That we reaffirm our devotion to the principles of the Republican party, and our belief that the continued existence of that party is necessary to the maintenance and success of those principles. The grand and fundamental idea of the equality of all men in political rights is not professed by any other party, and can be sustained faithfully only by those who are sincerely committed to it.

2. That the adoption of the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the Constitution of the United States has not been sufficiently acquiesced in by all to render certain and secure their permanent incorporation in that instrument and hence the administration of the government can safely be entrusted only to that party which is heartily, and beyond question, committed to them, and the policy necessary to put them in to successful operation.

3. That we are now, more than ever, called to sustain the policy of national protection to American industry. If the laborer is worthy of his hire, and a fair day's work entitles the worker to a fair day's pay, we must continue to throw the protecting arm of the government around those who toil for their daily bread. The protective policy alone makes labor contented and capital secure. It renders employment certain, and pay ample and satisfactory; while free trade means that our laborers and mechanics must either work for lower wages or that our factories should be closed through foreign competition, and the workingmen of the country deprived of employment.

4. That the public lands belong to the people, and should be reserved for the people. We, therefore, pronounce most decidedly against any further appropriation of the public lands in behalf of corporations or individuals. All lands not sold according to law should be open to preemption and actual settlement.

5. That we demand a continued adherence to the policy hitherto pursued, under Republican auspices, in our State and in the nation, of a steady and gradual reduction of the public debt. The interests of the people require that the most rigid economy should be practiced in the administration of both the Nation and the State governments, and that taxes should be reduced in both as rapidly as is consistent with the honorable maintenance of the public credit, and the certain extinguishment of all the public debt.

6. That we are earnestly in favor of the earliest possible removal of the duties on tea and coffee, and urge the prompt passage of the bill for that purpose now before Congress.

7. That we heartily approve of the act of Gen. Grant in giving a trial to the plan of civil service reform. We demand that the plan, or any other that may be substituted in its place as better, shall have a fair and unembarrassed trial, that every effort shall be made to secure competent men for public service, and that honesty and incorruptibility shall be deemed qualifications as essential as competency and intelligence.

8. That the Republican party has given full evidence during the past eleven years of its ability to administer the government honestly, faithfully and successfully. It has, within that time, maintained the honor of our National flag at home and abroad; preserved the Union from disruption and restored it in its integrity; secured to all classes and conditions of men the rights given to them by their Maker, and having proclaimed liberty throughout all the land, unto all the inhabitants thereof, has given to that proclamation the full effect to which it was entitled; and we therefore, in its name, claim from the people a continuance of their confidence, and fearlessly challenge their scrutiny into its acts.

9. That we point with pride to the record of Gen. Grant's administration of the National Government. Not only has the weight of internal taxation been almost wholly removed from the people's shoulders, but three hundred millions of the national debt have been paid off—a result never before attained by any other people under like circumstances, and for which we are indebted to the rigid honesty, strict economy and sterling integrity which the President has brought to the administration of a national affairs.

10. That we present his name for renomination to the Presidency confident that the people will again rally to the support of the man who so nobly fought their battles; who, under the guidance through its struggle to maintain its existence, and who has since so successfully administered the affairs of the government as to command general admiration, at home and abroad.

11. That we will stand by the government in the foreign policy so firmly marked out and adhered to by President Grant. The honor of the nation, we feel, is safe in his hands, and the flag under which he never suffered defeat, will not be dishonored while he is kept in the front.

12. That we congratulate the people of Pennsylvania on the final accomplishment of the call for a convention to revise and amend the Constitution of the State and we earnestly urge upon our friends to see that delegates are chosen in their respective districts committed to the policy of incorporating in that instrument a clear and decisive prohibition of special legislation.

13 That we hereby declare our opposition to every effort to withdraw from the sinking fund of the Commonwealth, either by substitution, exchange or otherwise, any of the bonds, securities or moneys now pledged to it, and through it to the payment of the public debt of the Commonwealth, and our inflexible determination to preserve the same, inviolably, for the fulfilment of the Commonwealth's obligations.

14. That the oil producing, mining, lumbering and manufacturing interest of the State require protection from the efforts of dangerous combinations, and that such laws should be enacted by the General Assembly of this Commonwealth as will protect said interest, both in their development and the transportation of their productions to market.

15. That the thanks of our party are due to Governor John W. Geary, under whose lead our principles have twice been successfully vindicated in Pennsylvania; the State debt has been reduced during his administration; our soldiers orphans have been carefully cherished and educated; and our laws have been efficiently and wisely enforced. Under the necessity of parting with him as Governor, in conformity with the Constitution of the State, Governor Geary carries with him in his retirement the heartfelt wishes of its people for his future prosperity and happiness.

16 That we present with peculiar pride and especial confidence of their success, the names of Gen. John F. Hartranft for Governor, Ulysses Mercur for Supreme Judge, Gen. Harrison Allen for Auditor General, and the gentlemen this day named for delegates at large to the Constitutional Convention. They are all men worthy of an active and ardent support at the hands of the Republican party, and we call upon our friends throughout the State to rally as one man to secure their triumphant election.

17 That the President of this Convention, in connection with the candidates this day nominated for State officers appoint the chairman and one Secretary of the State Central Committee, and that the State Committee be made up on the basis adopted last year, and the two years preceding.

The report of the committee was unanimously agreed to.

The committee to wait upon the Governor made a report, and submitted the following from His Excellency:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
HARRISBURG, April 10, 1872.

GENTLEMEN: Your communication of this date is duly received, inquiring what action I contemplate on the Congressional apportionment bill recently passed by the Legislature. The bill referred to was not received by me until the day on which the Legislature adjourned. Notwithstanding that fact, I have bestowed upon it, and upon the various applications in its behalf, and protests against its approval, careful and anxious consideration. Although, ordinarily, opinions on such subjects are reserved until the next meeting of the Legislature the present emergency entitles you, and all parties to be informed of my proposed action in the premises; and I, therefore, in response to your communication, formally announce that said Congressional apportionment bill, if approved at all, will not be signed until after the next annual election.

A proposition is now pending before Congress to increase the number of Representatives nine members, distributing them among the several States having the largest surplus population according to the act of apportionment, approved 2d Feb., 1872. I am informed the Judiciary Committee of the House has reported favorably upon this proposition, giving Pennsylvania an additional member of Congress thus increasing our representation to twenty-seven; and this movement if adopted by Congress, would require a redistricting of the State. Should the present State enactment be approved, the adversaries of this additional representation would urge the fact as an argument against the increase, whereby we might be deprived of one Congressman.

I am less reluctant to withhold my approval, as herein declared, because Congress in the act of 2d February, 1872, apportioning Representatives among the several States has already provided for the existing condition of things as follows:

Sec. 2. * * * * * * That in the election of Representatives to the Forty-third Congress, in any State which by this law is given an increased number of representatives, the additional representative or representatives allowed to such State may be elected by the State at large, and the other representatives to which the State is entitled by the districts as now prescribed by law in said State, unless the Legislature of said State shall otherwise provide before the time fixed by law for the election of representatives therein,

Most respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
JNO. W. GEARY.

On motion the communication was received and the committee discharged.

Mr. C. C. V. Crawford offered the following:

Resolved, That this Convention now proceed to nominate two candidates at large for Congress.

Agreed to.

Mr. Niles nominated Winthrop W. Ketcham.

The following gentlemen were also placed in nomination: Messrs Russell Errett, Wm. D. Kelly, Glenni W. Scofield, James L. Graham, Lemuel Todd, D. J. Morrell Wm. H. Koontz, Morton M'Michael, General Albright, Francis W. Jordan, Wm. Elliott.

Several delegates declared that Mr. Ketcham would not accept the nomination. After some discussion on the subject Mr. Niles moved that Mr. Ketcham be nominated by acclamation, which was agreed to.

On motion of Mr. Niles, a committee of three was appointed to wait on Mr. Ketcham, and inform him of his nomination. The committee was appointed by the President, and consisted of Messrs. Niles, Shoemaker and Bingham.

The names of all gentlemen were withdrawn, except Messrs. White, Owen, Todd, Morrell and Minor.

On the

FIRST BALLOT,

Mr. White received.....52 votes.
Mr. Owen " ..... 8 "
Mr. Todd " .....22 "
Mr. Morrell " .....22 "
Mr. Minor " ..... 2 "

There being no choice, a

SECOND BALLOT

was had, Mr. Minor's name having been withdrawn, when

Mr. White received 77 votes.
Mr. Todd received 18 votes.
Mr Morrell received 15 votes.
Mr. Owen received 2 votes.

The nomination of Gen. Harry White was then made unanimous.

A motion was made to adjourn, which was not agreed to on a call of the yeas and nays—45 voting in the affirmative and 54 in the negative.

Mr J. B. Niles. Mr. President, the committee appointed to await upon Hon. W. W. Ketcham and inform him of the action of this Convention, proceeded to make known to him what we had done. While he thanks this Convention very cordially for its kindness toward him, he begs us to inform you and this Convention that the condition of his private affairs will prevent him from accepting the nomination. But I desire to inform this Convention of another thing, that he stated that he would enter this fight canvass, as he has ever done, with his coat off and his sleeves up, and for the whole ticket. [Applause.] While he would be glad to accept the nomination tendered him, his private interests will prevent, but he begs us to inform you that General Hartranft and the remainder of the ticket will receive his full and hearty support. Applause.]

Hon. Wm. B. Mann moved that Lemueul Todd be nominated by acclamation.

A delegate said he had withdrawn the name of Gen. Albright on account of Mr. Ketcham having received the nomination by acclamation. He now wished to have his name again presented.

Another delegate moved that the name of Daniel J. Morrell be substituted for that of Lemuel Todd.

Another motion was made to substitute the name of L. D. Shoemaker.

The vote was taken on each motion in order and each was determined in the negative.

The roll of delegates was then called, with the following result:

Mr. Todd received..... 71 votes.
Mr. Morrell " ..... 10 "
Mr. Albright " ..... 26 "

Hon. Lemuel Todd having received a majority of all the votes cast, was declared the nominee.

On motion, the Convention then adjourned without day.

Keeping A Post-Office.

From the earliest period of recollection I've had a desire to keep a post-office, or have the P. O. keep me; I didn't care a continental which. For years I have toiled for the "posish" of P. M., and last week I succeeded. But now I write after my name ex-P. M.

I'll tell you how it came about. The postmaster here resigned, and, with the aid of a grave-yard recommendation, I succeeded him. It's nobody's business if I did rob the tombstones for names for my petition; and I don't see why the relatives of the defunct chaps won't quit throwing it up to a fellow.

Well, I wrote P. M after my name. Mrs. Lipnuck embraced me with the tenderness of a she bear when I rushed into the room waving my petition over my head; and my appointment brought sundry other hugs. I was a happy man.

Mrs. L and I sat up till midnight writing my name with P. M. after it. O, it looked grandly! I wouldn't have swapped it for Pres., L. L. D., or A. B. The next day I entered upon the discharge of my duties.

Immediately upon his successor (which was me) being qualified, the ex-P. M. left, and I was left alone. The mail came, and I distributed it thus wise: My motto has always been "First come, first served," and I acted upon it to the best of my knowledge. I gave a letter to each caller as long as they lasted, and then I commenced on the papers

Wife said the thing would act like a charm. Under the old regime some people never got a letter, while now the first person in the office, after the distribution of the mail, would get the biggest, fattest letter that came.

The idea was original, and I prided myself on its invention. The Lipnuck brain was over fertil.

The morning following "mail day" I left my house for the post-office—the attainment of long-cherished ambition. As I turned a corner I discovered two well-known citizens about to test the virtue in clenched hands.

"I never wrote a letter to your wife," vociferated one.

"You lie!" yelled the other; "your letter yesterday was handed to me. My wife is in Birmingham, and wrote a sweet letter to you. Lipnuck's noble motto of "First come first served' placed it in my hands." And a moment later at it they went.

I hurried on.

I had just entered the P. O. when a woman rushed into the building.

"You villain!" she yelled knocking my hat to the floor, and burying her eagle talons in my hair. "You gave my letter to Mag Fastongue, the biggest old slanderer in town. And she's telling every-where that I've been writing to a married man."

Well, I now can't boast of as much hair as I could a week ago.

Scarcely had my prosecutor left when a crowd rushed into the office. The Methodist preacher headed it. I think he swore as he crossed the threshold.

"Villain!" he yelled, "you gave Bird Lyre one of my letters, and he's blowing everywhere that I've got a wife in New York and another in Maine."

"Kill him; kill him!" yelled those behind.

I saw a dozen fists and clubs nearing me, and I retreated.

"Hang the scoundrel!" cried the woman; and I feared that the command would be executed.

I went through the window, and now I'm in another town.

I'm an ex-P. M. now, and a chap whose motto haint "First come first served" stands at the goal of my late ambition.

My brief P. M. ship has not been unproductive of results. That M. E. preacher has left his charge, and a New York woman is hunting him. Twenty-six divorces stare our next court in the face, and, through my brief official career, nine men walk on crutches, and four women have spoiled faces.

And I? Why, my cranium is hairless, and I dare not go back to Skulltown on pain of death.

My ambition is satiated now, and I have discharged that motto, "First come first served." It don't work in a post-office.

I wouldn't be a P. M. again for all the benzine in the world.

How To Plant The Potato.

Plant never less than six inches deep, better seven; in sandy soil never less than seven or seven and a half. The reason is this, and it will show how many points it will cover: It will put the crop beyond the hurtful influence of the heat and drought; It will bury the seed so that the frost cannot reach it, early as it is put in the ground; and if it should reach it, being buried so deeply, it will draw out gradually, which will save it. It is as well here, the seed is, as in the cellar, and may better sprout here than in the cellar. It will thus show above the ground in due time, when the frosts have disappeared and the growing season sets in. The soil being well drained—an Indispensable thing—the rest will not hurt. There being a good mellow soil, with humus (vegetable matter) charging it, it will be comparatively dry and warm. This will save the seed; providing always it is sound; otherwise effected with rot, it will be lost.

The distance of planting apart must depend upon the sort that is planted. A spreading potato—spreading in the hill—must have more room. Thus, we plant the Early Rose. The latter will put its tubers close together, a nest of them, and the hills can be put close together, say twelve to fourteen inches, or drop the seed (a single eye or two) continously eight inches apart, the rows as near together as will permit with the cultivator, the nearer the better for the close-growing roots. By thus planting, as will be seen, rather close, there will be no over grown, and consequently, coarse, and it may be, hollow potatoes. Neither will there be necessarily many small ones, especially with some sorts, of which the Early Rose is a beautiful example. The size will be medium, large enough—just the thing for cooking; and there will be improved quality—a thing, we need not say, on no secondary importance.

Select such seed for planting, as is wanted to be grown, of the best, the finest qualities all around, and divide into as many eyes as it pleases—a few eyes only in a hill.—Prairie Farmer.

A Marble-Hearted Railroad Conductor.

"Your fare if you please, madam," said the conductor to an elderly lady who had got aboard at a way station. The elderly lady looked up, and drawing forth a letter, spoke with a voice that was shrill:

"Two of Mr.——'s children is dead, and they, ve writ me to come to the buryin' today. Isn't it terrible?"

The conductor looked as shocked as possible, and expressed sympathy.

"And I want you to let me ride free," continued the old lady.

"I can't let you ride free unless you have a pass," returned the conductor, mildly.

"Not to go to a funeral?" said the old lady.

"No madam," replied the conductor; "I'm sorry to say that the rules of the road are very strict, and I am not allowed to discriminate."

"Well, I think you oughtn't to charge folks for going to a funeral," persisted the old lady.

"If we let everybody, going to funerals ride free," again spoke the conductor, "it wouldn't pay. Besides, it would encourage the funeral business in a way that would cast a gloom over the entire country. Your fare is a dollar and a half, madam."

"Well," retorted the old lady, drawing out a well filled purse, "I think you might let me go free, 'specially as I'm going to a double funeral. Mr——'s children is both dead, and they'll be buried in the same grave, I reckon. Oh! it's a terrible blow!"

And the old lady, wiping her eyes, paid her fare. As the conductor moved on, she turned to a passenger and remarked, with some indignation, "These railroaders is the most unfeelin' folks I ever seed."

AN APPEAL!

To Debilitated Persons,
To Dispeptics,
To suffers from Liver Complaint,
To those having no Appetit,
To those with broken down Constitutions
To Nervous People,
To Children Wasting Away,
To any with debilitated digestive Organs

Or suffering with any of the following Symptoms, which indicate Disordered Stomach or Liver.

such as Constipation, Inward Piles, Fullness or Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for food, Fullness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried and difficul breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or suffocating Sensations when in a Lying Posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Fever and Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, &c., Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginings of Evil, and Great Depression of Spirits.

Hoofland's German Bitters.

A Bitters without Alcohol or Spirits of any kind.

Is different from all others. It is composed of the pure Juices, or VITAL PRINCIPLE OF ROOTS, HERBS, and BARKS, (or, as medicinally termed, Extracts,) the worthless or inert portions of the ingredients not being used. Therefore in one Bottle of this Bitters there is contained as much medicinal virtue as will be found in several gallons or ordinary mixtures. The Roots, &c., used in this Bitters are grown in Germany, their vital principles extracted in that country by a scientific Chemist, and forwarded to the manufactory in this city, when they compounded and bottled. Containing no spirituous ingredients, this Bitters is free from the objections urged against all others: no desire for stimulants can be induced from their use, they cannot make drunkards, and cannot under any circumstances, have any but a beneficial effect.

Hoofland's German Tonic.

Was compounded for those not incained to extreme bitters, and is intended for use in cases when some alcoholic stimulant is required in connection with the Tonic properties of the Bitters. Each bottle of the tonic contains one bottle of the Bitters, combined with pure SANTA CRUZ RUM, and flavored in such a manner that the extreme bitterness of the bitters is overcome forming a preparation highly agreeable and pleasant to the palate, and containing the medicinal virtues of the Bitters. The price of the Tonic is $1,50 per Bottle, which many persons think too high. They must take into consideration that the stimulant used is guaranteed to be of a pure quality. A poor article could be furnished at a cheaper price, but is it not better to pay a little more and have a good article? A medicinal preparation should contain none but the best ingredients; and they who expect to obtain a cheap compound, and be benefitted by it, will most certainly be cheated.

SPEAR FOR THESE REMEDIES.
Who would ask for more Dignified or Stronger Testimony?

HON. GEORGE W. WOODWARD, formerly Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania at present Member of Congress from Pennsylvania, writes:

PHILADELPHIA, March 16, 1871.

I find "Hoofland's German Bitters" is a good tonic, useful in diseases of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in case of debility and want of nervous action in the system. Yours truly,
GEO. W. WOODWARD.

HON. JAS. THOMPSON, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania,

PHILADELPHIA, April 28, 1867.

I consider "Hoofland's German Bitters" a valuable medicine in case of attacks of indigestion or Dyspepsia. I can certify this from my own experience of it.
Yours, with respect, JAS. THOMPSON.

HON. GEORGE SHARSWOOD, Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, June 1, 1868.

I have found by experience that "Hoofland's German Bitters" is a very good tonic, relieving dyspeptic symptoms almost directly.
GEORGE SHARSWOOD

HON. JAS. M. WOOD, Ex-Mayor of Williamsport, Pa.

I take great pleasure in recommending "Hoofland's German Tonic" to any one who may be afflicted with Dyspepsia. I had the Dyspepsia so badly it was impossible to keep any food on my stomach, and I became so week, as not to be able to walk half a mile. Two bottles of Tonic effected a perfect cure. JAMES M. WOOD.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN REMEDIES
Are the medicines you require to purify the Blood, excite the torpid Liver to healthy action, and to enable you to pass safely through any hardships or exposure.

DR. HOOFLAND'S
PODOPHYLLIN,
Or Substitue for Mercury Pills.
TWO PILLS A DOSE.
The Most Powerful, Yet Innocent Vegetable Cathartic Known.

It is not necessary to take a handful of these Pills to produce the desired effect; two of them act quickly and powerfully, cleansing the Liver, Stomach and Bowels all impurities. The principal ingredient is Podophyllin, or the Alcoholic Extract of Mandrake, which is by many times more powerful, acting and searching than the Mandrake itself. Its peculiar action is upon the Liver, cleaning it specially from all obstructions, with all the power of Mercury, yet free from the injurious results attached to the use of that mineral.

For all diseases, in which the use of a cathartic is indicated, these pills will give entire satisfaction in every case. They NEVER FAIL.

In cases of Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia and extreme costiveness, Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters or Tonic should be used in connection with the Pills. The tonic effect of the Bitters or Tonic builds up the system. The Bitters or Tonic purifies the Blood, strengthens the Nerves, REGULATES the Liver, and gives strength, energy and vigor.

Keep your Bowels active with the Pills, and tone up the system with Bitters or Tonic, and no disease can remain a hold, or ever assail you.

Recollect that it is DR. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN REMEDIES that are so universally used and highly recommended; and do not allow the Druggist to induce you to take anything else that he may say is just as good, because he makes a larger profit on it. Ayer's Cherr Pectoral.

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs Such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so wide and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to cold and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it,

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague district, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgements we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either residents in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the Ague Cure daily.

For Liver Complaints, arise from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

reduction of $48,000,000. If you insist as an experiment that coal and salt and raw hides, according to the Secretary's recommendation, remain, add them, and they make $50,617,521; but if you take off the expenses of collection saved, it reduces it to $48,100,000. That alternative enables us to reduce taxes and duties $48,100,000, and leave protection to American industry in great measure to stand.

On the other hand, if you reduce the duty on tea and coffee $7,000,000. manufactures $11,000,000, make the free list stand at $3,000,000, and reduce internal taxes $16,000,000 only, you reduce but $38,000,000, and leave a margin of $12,000,000 which I do not understand exactly how the chairman intends to dispose of.

Mr. Sherman. I will repeat again the statement I made. The amount of reduction of internal revenue is $31,000,000. Part of that is the income tax, which falls of itself without repeal; and then the tax on gas and the taw on banks and bankers other than national banks—all the items amounting to $31,500,000. I gave the details in the remarks that I made.

Mr. Scott. Thus the practical question is presented, which will you favor, foreign or home labor? Will you take off domestic taxes paid by our own people and encourage their industry, or will you take off duties paid by foreigners who come to compete in our markets, and give employment to foreign labor and deny it to American citizens?

We need not attempt to delay or evade this question. It is before the people. The issue is made up. The first verdict has been rendered by New Hampshire; and it has but recorded the continuous verdict rendered every time the same question has been submitted since free and intelligent labor joined issue with the owners of servile ignorance by their respective representatives the Monitor and the Merrimac. "Cotton is King;" "Iron is king;" "Money is king," were the cries that were heard at various times and from different quarters in the land before the rebellion came; but the iron-clad Monitor, the combined product of trained, educated labor, and free independent intellect, representing the mine, the forge, the workshop, and the school, and the Merrimac, representing the large property-holder with his dependent serfs, grappled in armed conflict. The Merrimac went down in the struggle, and from that day through, all the bloody battle fields of the rebellion, free labor won its triumphs, and they are recorded in the Constitution and laws of a redeemed nation of freemen who demand and will have among their equal rights the right to good living wages for good honest work. Labor will be king.

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN

BELLEFONTE, PA.

Wednesday Morning, April 24th, 1872.

NEWSPAPER LAWS.

We would call the special attention of postmasters and our subcribers to the following synopsis of the newspaper laws:

1. A postmaster is required to give notice by letter, (returning a paper does not answer the law,) when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office, and state the reasons for its not being taken; and a neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publishers for its payment.

2. Any person who takes a paper from the post-office, whether directed to his name or another's, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.

3. If a person orders his paper to be discontinued, he must pay all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount, whether it be taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until the payment is made.

4. If the subscriber orders the paper to be stopped at a certain time, and the publisher continues to send it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it, if he takes it out of the post-office. The law proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.

5. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the post-office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima-facie evidence of intentional fraud.

"WALKER'S Vinegar Bitters" at wholesale or retail at Green's.

ISAAC LOSE, at his Livery Stable, keeps good horses, buggies and carriages. Rates reasonable. See Advertisement.

THE prospects for growth of our town we consider never to have been better. Although early in the season, preparations are going forward on every hand, and the probability is that many solid and substantial structures will be put up this season.—Philipsburg Journal.

WHITE-WASHING.—Mr. O. B Lambert one of the best plasterers and white-washers in the county is around with his brush, and liquid lime. He can white wash the finest parlor without taking up the carpet. In short he is an adept at his business and has few, if any superiors.

STOCK.—We are pleased to learn that our farmers are turning their attention more to stock raising than formerly. This is as it should be. There is certainly money in raising stock. Nelson Askey of Howard tp. has just received from his brother in Illinois two nice Poland China hogs. The boar at 8 months old weighed 303 lbs. The sow only 9 months old weighs 288 lbs. Such stock is hard to beat.

LIST of Letters remaining in the Bellefonte Post Office, and unclaimed, April 22nd, 1872.

Miss Alice J Breon, S Bailey, Miss Elizabeth Clark, Miss Alice C Condo—2, Wm Florey, A M Francis, John Furey, Kate Gross, Daniel Hoover, Thomas Hawl, Clara Hackman, Miss Eliza Jane Henderson, A Horeler, Miss E E Knox—2, Mrs Maggie Kline, John Kouman, D G Leathers, Hunter Neill, T C Rumberger, Miss Kate Shriver, Albert Smeltzer, Michael Segner, Miss Mary J Shutt, John Smith, Thomas T Trayler.

PAY UP.—Those of our subscribers who failed to call and pay us this week, will do well to send the amount due as speedily as possible. We need our money and it is your duty to see that it is forth coming. We know that you do not wish us to go into the Presidential Campaign with our hands tied. We must strike giant blows. We have a desperate copperhead, rebel, free trade enemy to contend against. To this end pay up. Strengthen our hands. Sanction our efforts not by words; but by deeds as well. In this way victory will perch upon our banner, and your enemies and the enemies of the country will be compelled to remain, in their merited retirement and oblivion.

OUR readers will notice the advertisement of Burnside & Thomas, the well known merchants of Bellefonte, of long established reputation. Their cash system and low prices of everything, is an excellent idea and is being highly approved. Common sense tells us that keeping no books is necessary, it presents the strongest claims to the confidence of the prudent economical and saving at least from 30 to 50 per cent. The present popularity and success which is attending them is regarded in that light by the community at large, and all sexes resort to them to make their purchases. They furnish the best quality of goods and sell them for less money than any other store can afford to.

BELLEFONTE ACADEMY.—Prof. Hughes is winning golden honors for himself, as Principal of the Bellefonte Academy. His reputation as a teacher cannot be increased from anything that we may write. He has mingled with the people and is known by them. He came here about four years since, rented the Academy, (a dead institution) and by his perseverance and indefatigable industry has built up a first class school—a school that is now the glory and the pride of our town and county. The old Academy building was too small. It would not accomodate the increase of students. Prof. Hughes did not dispair; but went to work, night and main, and the result was, a large brick building, with spacious hall, and commodious rooms, for students. Now, there is room. Let our farmers send in their sons. Why send them abroad?

JUMPING THE ROPE.—There is no amusement indulged in by the children of this city that calls for louder denunciations than that of jumping the rope. It is fraught with the most dangerous results, and every effort should be employed to totally abolish the practice.—Our exchanges frequently contain obituaries of children who have died from over-exertion in endeavoring to eclipse their playmates in jumping. In our own city, within the past year, there have been serious cases resulting from the same cause. Parents should forbid their children indulging in this dangerous pastime, and see that their orders are enforced; teachers of our public schools should also be instructed to exercise vigilance, and see to it that jumping the rope forms no part of the school yard plays. By so doing, the health of the rising generation will be improved, and many a parent relieved of painful nights of watching over a thoughtless child who has fallen a victim to this juvenile custom.—Gazette & Bulletin.

GOOD "JOKE ON SNYDER."—At a railroad station on the Northern Central, not far from Williamsport, a few days since, a rather corpulent old lady stepped up to the office, saying: "I would like a ticket for the train." The clerk, one of these smart young chaps, thinking he would perpetrate a joke on the old lady, replied, "Yes'm, will you go in the passenger train or in the cattle train?" The old lady tipped back her bonnet, and giving the sarcastic young man a sharp glance, retorted—"Well, if you are a specimen of what I shall experience in the passenger train, give me a ticket for the cattle train by all means." The ticket man says jokes are liable to take a serious turn.—Gazette & Bulletin.

TRAMPS AROUND.—As the spring opens and the weather sets in pleasant, the usual number of tramps will be about operating in our towns, imposing upon the good nature of those who are ever ready to help the needy. Many of those who are clothed in rags and wear distressed countenances, are nothing but downright scoundrels, and we would say to housekeepers, one and all, do not permit any stranger, male or female, to enter your dwelling further than the door or vestibule, unless you have the most complete assurance that the stranger has no designs upon your property, for many of these tramps are either thieves themselves or agents for others. Do not leave your entry or hall doors open—keep them locked. Many of the robberies and outrages chronicled daily in the papers, might have been avoided by attending to these little things.—Columbia Spy.

GARDEN SEEDS.—Every person who stands in need of garden seeds should purchase of C. W. Lambert, Proprietor of the Sunny Side Gardens, Bellefonte, Pa. These seeds are warranted pure and true to name, Lamberts seed always draw the premiums at our county Fairs. He has also the most capacious hot-beds in this county. He will, at the proper time and a month in advance of every other person, supply the market, or all demands, with tomato, cabbage, pepper, celery and other plants. Send in your orders.

MILESBURG.—J Brant Hahn, at his new and cheap store in Milesburg is doing a first rate business. His store is always crowded with customers, the people say, because he does just what he promises to do in his advertisement. Mr. Hahn thinks and says, that no man can do business without advertising. In this we endorse him most fully. His prosperous career shows that he is a man of pluck, energy and sense and therefore his opinion is worthy of note. Go and see Mr. Hahn in Milesburg.

ASTONISHING.—It is astonishing to see the vast quantities of goods which are being daily received at the store of Emil Joseph a Bro. The ladies always know where to by the cheapest goods, and as a result of this information they can be seen by scores going to, and coming from this grand dry goods emporium. The goods are all first class, and sold at the most reasonable rates.

COURT.—Court is in session this week. A great many of the people—our friends from the country are here. The lawyers are driving a brisk trade, making money out of the disputes, large and small, of the people who make their money by "hard knocks." When the Millenium dawns upon us then there will be no further need for lawyers.—The good time coming.

WHITE WASH LIME.—Customers in Bellefonte will be supplied with White Wash Lime at their residences by giving one days notice and leaving their orders at our office.

CORNER STONE.—The corner Stone laying of the Lutheran Church at Centre Line, will take place on Sunday the 5th day of May. Let every person bear this in mind.

SEWING MACHINES.—To show what an enormous industry the business of manufacturing and selling sewing machines has become, we find by the sworn returns of the twenty-five principal makers, that their gross sales for 1871 amounted to six hundred and six thousand ninety-four (606,094) machines. Of this large number the Singer Manufacturing Co., which heads the list in the extent of its sales, sold one hundred and eighty-one thousand two hundred and sixty (181,260) machines, being nearly one-third of the entire number, and upward of fifty-three thousand increase on their sales in the previous year. We understand that this success is mainly owing to the popularity of their new "Family" machine which, in addition to all the usual advantages, has several new features which render it specially attractive to the masses. In Chicago, it would seem that no other has a chance against it, for the Special Relief Committee, after the late disastrous fire, report, that of the total number of 2 644 machines distributed, two thousand four hundred and twenty-seven (2,427) were of the "Singer" pattern. The report adds: "The applicant in every case has designated the machine desired." Further comment is needless.—New York Mercantile Journal.

THINGS IN GENERAL.—"I'll never keep another cow over winter; I could have sold what I fed mine this winter for forty dollars." So said one of our most truthful citizens. Keeping stock through the winter that is, we hope, nearly passed, has been no small expense, for hay and water were very scarce in many place. One of the citizens of our township lost nearly all his stock—some four or five horses and colts, several cows, and I believe, all his hogs. They probably suffered for want of water.....I am really sorry you did dot publish my way of feeding corn-fodder. The corn stalks that are now in the way of hauling manure, in this county, would, if tramped fine under well-fed horses, have kept probably a hundred cows through the entire winter with the small addition of a very few dollars worth of mill-feed.....The mare that Mr. Johnston had thrown and so badly torn by a stob, that her bowels came out, is doing pretty well. So much for prompt, energetic surgery by a common log-jobber. The cut in her abdomen was about eight inches..... Our schools have all been, to some extent, a success we paid $40 per month to all the teachers but one (the smallest school), and a premium of from five to ten dollars to each teacher. Some of our people are so opposed to education that they have not sent a child to school this entire winter. Should we have a law compelling them to send their children to school?

"Shaw's Horse Powder" at wholesale or retail at Green's.

"HORSE-MEN," and others who pretend to know, say that the following directions had better be observed in using Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders: Give a horse a tablespoonful every night for a week; the same every other night for 4 or 6 nights; the same for a milch cow, and twice as much for an ox. The addition of a little fine salt will be an advantage.

We have heard recently of several severe cases of spinal disease cured by Johnson's Anodyne Liniment; one case of a man forty-five years old, who had not done a day's work for four years. The back should first be washed, then rubbed with a coarse towel. Apply the Liniment cold, and rub in well with the hand.

PLANTS.—This is certainly a progressive age. There was a time when if we wanted early vegitables, we were compelled to send to Baltimore or some other seaport town to procure them. Now the thing has changed. All we have to do, is to order our plants from Emanuel Rupert Proprietor of the Marsh Creek Gardens, and we can have in our own gardens, the earliest and best of every thing. Tomato, cabbage and other plants for sale by him. Post Office Address, Blanchard, Centre Co. Pa.

TOBACCO STORE.—Our Enterprising young friend at his tobacco store, in the "Our House" building corner of Allegheny & Bishop Sts, requests us to say, that he always keeps a full supply of Tobacco, Snuff, Cigars & Pipes, and that he has recently received a large supply of a new style of Paper Collars, which cannot be surpassed or equaled in this market. Remember the name—Ed Fortney—and the place "Our House" building. Call in gentlemen.

GROCERIES.—Messrs. Ruhl & Gault have just received a large and superior stock of groceries, syrups, cheese, hams, canned fruits, dried fruits &c. &c., at their Grocery Store on Allegheny St. This is a worthy and reliable firm and have determined to sell everything in "their line" at the most reasonable rates for cash. Convince yourselves by calling to see them.

DRY GOODS.—A worthy quartette is the Messrs. Harper Brothers. They are constantly receiving additions to their already large stock of goods, and while they do not do any idle blowing, they manage to make their actions speak louder than words. They are growing in favor daily with our people and the result is that their store is always crowded with choice, cash paying customers.

THE WORK OF THE RING.

COL. W. W. BROWN:

In my last, for the information of the tax-payers of the county, I referred to the law relative to the duty of the County Commissioners, Auditors and Treasurers in the assessment and collection of taxes—the annual publication of the receipts and disbursments, together with such other items as may have a tendency to convey a general information of the transactions of the preceding year.

The Auditor's Report of January, 1871, was more in compliance with the intention of the Law, and more intelligable than the Report of 1872. But we are informed, that for this, we are to credit Treasurer Wolf, he, being something of a book-keeper. If this be true, it is a pity he did not superintend the last Auditor's Report, and compel them to State their account, so that, it would "convey a general information of the preceding year" in a plain and simple book keeping manner, so that the tax-payers could understand the financial condition of the county—how much she is in debt—how long it has been in debt, and what portion has been paid, and what remains to be paid. This information is withheld, in the Commissioner's, Auditors, and Treasurers Report; but a mystification and deception is resorted to. This deception in the Report, represents the county debt paid, and a surplus of $3,482,00 in the Treasury, while at the same time we have to pay a tax of six mills on the Dollar. Taxpayers how is this?

Let us try, if we can get at the truth of this mixed up, jumbled up county statement, and thus get at the true situation. In order to do this, I shall take the statement from the Democratic Watchman, published as the Auditors Report, on the 16th of February, 1872. I find that Treasurer S. S. Wolf is charged with the gross amount of $93,340,51 and Treasurer Wolf gets credit with $90,221,52. But this credit includes outstanding taxes previous to 1871, of $34,535 60, and exonerations and Commissioners, allowed collectors amounting to $4126,44, amounting in all to $38,662,04. True in the exhibit the Commissioners state the outstanding taxes to be $38,457,70; but they also state that the estimated exonerations and unpaid Commissioners on these unpaid taxes, will amount to $3,128,73, which leaves the uncollected taxes $34,328,97. What does this prove? Simply this one thing, that there is no money in the County Treasury to pay the ordinary expenses of the county. This conclusion is inevitable, if the Auditors Report be true. I repeat there is no money, no share or fund to pay the county indebtedness, which amounts, by the "Exhibit of Centre county" in the Auditors Report noted, Dr. January 1st, 1872, to the sum of $38,166,88.

But this is not all. For the Auditors certify that there is a balance due Sheriff Woodring of $1,841,26, which is to be added, making the county indebtedness $40,008 14. The amount of outstanding taxes the Report says is $38,457,70. Estimated exonerations and commissions on unpaid taxes $3,128 73, which is to be deducted, thus, leaving but $35,338,97 to pay $40,008,14, leaving the county indebtedness $4,660,17, instead of having a balance in favor of the county of $3,482,60 as is stated by the Auditors Report.

But what has been done with the money which has been paid into the Treasury? This is the question. The Auditors Report endeavors to answer it; but is neither plain nor satisfactory.—True it exhibits that the several members of the Ring and their favorites, have taken care of themselves. As I find that the

Auditors and their Clerk, whoever he was, received	$ 80 00
Commissioners pay	915 51
Clerk	554 18
J. S. Parsons, tip staff	70 50
Court Cryer	42 00
B. Galbraith, Janitor	264 44
D. Woodring	985 50
Orvis & Alexander, Solicitors	575 00
J. Moran, Prothonotary	125 65
Contingent expenses, unexplained and covered up in mystery	2,113 29
Making in all	$6,905 07

I intend to notice these payments in detail hereafter, believing that several hundred dollars could have been saved if the Treasurer and Commissioners had but done their duty, as the law has pointed it out to them. But there is another strange feature in this Auditors Report. There are eight weeks of regular courts held in the year, yet there is no account given of the Jury fees, so far as the Auditors Report exhibits.—These fees are not even mentioned. What became of the Jury fees? Certainly this requires explanation. But more anon. CATO.

Advertisement next week.

IOWA, NEBRASKA, KANSAS, CALIFORNIA.—Advertising alone does not produce success. The thing which is advertised must have intrinsic merit, or else large advertising will eventually do it more harm than good. If you have anything which you know to be good, advertise it thoroughly, and you will be sure to succeed; if it is poor, don't praise it, for people will soon discover you are lying.

Such is the policy of the BURLINGTON ROUTE, which runs to three great regions in the West: 1st, To Omaha, connecting with the great Pacific Roads. 2d, To Lincoln, the capital of Nebraska, and all that beautiful region south of the Platte, filled with R. R. lands and homesteads. 3d, To St. Joseph, Kansas City and all Kansas points.

The roads are splendidly built, have the best bridges, finest cars, the Miller platform and coupler, and the safety air brake (to prevent the loss of life that is every where else happening); Pullman's sleepers, Pullman dining cars, large and powerful engines (to make quick time and good connections), and are in a word the best equipped roads in the West. So that if you desire to go safely, surely, quickly and comfortably to any point in Southern Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, or on the Pacific Roads, be sure that you go "By Way of Burlington."

All who wish particular information, and a large map, showing correctly the Great West, and all its railroad connections, can obtain them, and any other knowledge, by addressing General Passenger Agent, B. & Mo. R. R. R., Burlington, Iowa. 14-3m.

GREELEY AND FORNEY.

What will Greeley do? seems to be the question of the day. Not even Greeley can answer the query. He is a very uncertain man, and, after all is said, not worth bothering about. Too much notice is taken of his eccentricities, if we may use so mild a word to characterize his political vagaries and tergiversation. There is only one thing certain—and the sooner we rest content with that knowledge, and let the man pursue his devious course unnoticed the better. What we may be entirely certain of is this; after what he has done, it matters little what he may do. The success of the Republican party does not depend upon his support of it, and he may as well be made acquainted with the fact now as hereafter. And it would do no harm to cram that piece of information into the noddle of Col. Forney—who, after rather ostentationsly setting himself up as the healer of dissensions in the Republican ranks, is now doing his best to create dissension. Fortunately, however, with little prospects of success. He, like Greeley, has overestimated his importance. He is not the power his vanity has led him to believe he is. His services, if freely rendered, will be accepted and acceptable—but if he prefers another course, the party can very well do without him.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

For the REPUBLICAN.

WHY IS IT?

MESSRS. EDITORS:

A neighbor of mine is an applicant for tavern license at the April Court, and knowing that his name must be published in the list of applications, looked for it in the REPUBLICAN. But, Lo!! there was no list of applicants published there. He is a true Republican and he thought it strange. I advised him to look in the Watchman. He said he did not take it. I then got a Watchman, and there found the list signed JOHN MORAN, Clerk. I now think Mr. Moran has acted the political partizan to the injury of the Republican applicants for license.

In all justice and fairness he should have published the list in the REPUBLICAN. But he has shown a political hostility to his Republican citizens that should not be forgotten when he offers himself for re-election. We will not fail to spot him in this neighborhood.

FAIR PLAY.

THE Chicago women have a decided preference as to the machine they sew with. According to the Tribune of that city, the Relief Committee has supplied 2,944 machines, of which 2,427 were of the Singer patent. Each applicant designated the machine she desired.—The Golden Age, New York.

DON'T fail to hear A. B. Jack, tomorrow (Thursday) evening.

To the Citizens of Centre County and Elsewhere.

Your attention is particularly requested to the following certificate referring to those old established remedies, "HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS", and "HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC," from that well known citizen,

IRA C. MITCHELL, ESQ.:

"BELLEFONTE, PA., Oct. 27, 187

Sir:—I have just had the pleasure of meeting your Agent, the first representative of "Hoofland's German Bitters" and "Hoofland's German Tonic," it has ever been my good fortune to meet. For many year I have been purchasing and using them to the great comfort of myself, family and friends, having commenced their use on the recommendations of the Supreme Court Judges of this State. It affords me pleasure to have the opportunity to voluntarily recommend the same to all of my friends and acquaintances who may be suffering from Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Billiousness or affections of the Liver, of any kind.

Very Respectfully,
IRA C. MITHELL."

These medicines are and have been well known to the community for the last twenty-five years, as genuine, reliable and deserving remedies for the diseases mentioned in the above certificate. Those afflicted should not fail to use them. Sold by all Druggists. C. M. EVANS, Proprietor, 631, Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa. 3-56-1y

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A CARD.—We take this method of saying that there is no truth in the reports that have been circulated, "that we intend quitting the coal business as soon as our present supply is sold out." On the contrary we have on hand now and intend to keep on hand a well selected stock of the best Anthracite coal in the market.

A VOICE FROM THE PULPIT.

REV. D. S. FROST, Pastor of the Free Baptist Church, Jamesville, Vermont, writes: "I had suffered for many years from Chronic Diarrhœa and Colic, becoming so much reduced that I was at times unable to attend to my ministerial duties. I had been treated by several physicians, both Allopathic and Homopathic, but with no permanent results. While on a visit to Scranton, Penna., I experienced a very severe attack, and by the advice of some of my friends procured a bottle of MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS. The effect then produced gave promise of an ultimate cure, and on my return home I continued its use. I have taken six bottles and am cured. It is truly a valuable remedy."

EDITORIAL NOTICES are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article without being suspected of interested motives. This fact, however, shall not deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, a remedy which is making its way into more families just now than all the other advertised medicines put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of its tonic and alterative properties, while it possesses the great negative recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poison. That it is a specific for Indigestion, Billiousness, Constipation, and many complaints of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorant, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal. It is stated that its ingredients, (obtained from the wilds of California,) are new to the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown. If popularity is any criterion, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the VINEGAR BITTERS, for the sale of the article is immense and continually increasing. 14-4t
